

ALBANY, June 11.—Governor Hughes, at 4:35 P.M. today signed the two anti-gambling bills passed by the Senate this afternoon.

EVERY STAIN REMOVED FROM NAME OF THE LATE JUD. BRUSIE.

Steamer Signals for Help

—Advices have been received by the Merchants' Exchange of this city that a large passenger steamer burning red lights, which are construed to be signals of distress, passed Point Arguello, 200 miles south of here, at an early hour today. She was too far from shore for the lookout to discover her identity. The sea was comparatively smooth. She was proceeding north. Shipping men are unable to identify the vessel, though it is believed she may be one of the numerous steam schooners plying along this coast.

MANGLED TO DEATH BENEATH THE WHEELS

Fire Company Called Out to Raise Car From the Body of the Little Sufferer.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—While attempting to cross in front of a rapidly moving car at Fifteenth and Mission streets, shortly before 9 o'clock this morning, little six-year-old Charles Francks was run down by car 1230, of the San Mateo line and cruelly mangled to death beneath the wheels, although the motorman made every effort to stop the car.

Fire Alarm Sent in.

It was at once seen that it would be impossible to rescue the child without raising the car, and an alarm for fire was turned in in order to bring assistance to the scene. When the team arrived the car was raised and the little boy's still-breathing form was tenderly extricated. Just as willing hands were about to place him in the ambulance which was waiting, he expired, and a call was sent in to the morgue.

Shrieks Crazed Crowd.

All during the time that an effort was being made to raise the car the pitiable cries of the child could be heard for fully a block around, and the rescuers were nerved to further efforts by the sounds. As it was, however, it took fully twenty minutes before the big suburban car could be raised to sufficient height.

The lad had just left his home a short time before and was on his way to the Mission primary school when the accident occurred.

The lad lived at 1272 Natoma street.

JUD BRUSIE CLEARED OF BLAME

Charges Against Universally Loved Man Stricken From Records of Police Court.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—Raising his voice in a sublime eulogy to the memory of the much-loved and universally-lamented Judson C. Brusie, Attorney Samuel Shortridge this morning formally had stricken from the records the accusation which caused the death of the famous club man and playwright in Los Angeles yesterday.

Hush Fell Upon Court.

A hush fell upon the crowded courtroom of Department 1 in the hall of justice this morning when Attorney Shortridge, a lifelong friend of Brusie, rose to his feet to address Judge Welles in behalf of his client. The usual shuffling of feet and sounds of whispered mutterings among the various hangerson so characteristic of the proverbial police court, were hushed and all listened to the voice of the learned attorney as he made this last appeal.

SUICIDE IS VEILED IN MYSTERY

Mystery surrounds the identity of a man about 35 years of age who committed suicide shortly after noon today at 1148 Seventh street by shooting himself in the head. The body was taken to the morgue where an inquest will be held.

At 10 o'clock last night the man who neglected to give his name, rented a room at the 7th street address from Mrs. Robert Watson, the landlady. At 11 o'clock this morning Mrs. Watson went to his room but he did not open the door, saying that he would be up in a short time. In about an hour and a half the report of a pistol was heard and when the police entered the room in response to an alarm sent out by Mrs. Watson, the man was found dead on the bed, fully dressed and with a revolver in his hand. Although the room was thoroughly searched nothing was found which would lead to the identity of the suicide, nor were there any marks of identification on the clothing. The dead man was dressed in a dark suit, a blue working shirt, blue tie and has dark hair and mustache. He had $7.95 in his pockets. It is the opinion of Mrs. Watson that the man rented the room for the express purpose of ending his life. He was unable to express himself clearly as to his wants and is believed to be an Italian.

G.O.P. DELEGATES LEAVE FOR EAST

Jake Neff Absent From the Delegation to Represent California

This morning at 10:30 o'clock several hundred delegates assembled at the Sixteenth street depot for the purpose of showing honor and respect to Judge H. A. Molvin, George W. Reed of this city and G. H. Halliday of Solano, delegates to the national Republican convention, which is to be held in Chicago, commencing June 16.

Those who gathered were not all personal friends of the gentlemen mentioned. Many of them had no acquaintance with them, but felt that they represented the great Republican party of this State and further, that they were the men who were to voice the sentiments of the people of California in favor of the standard bearer in the next national campaign for President and they had accordingly assembled, with personal friends of the delegates, to bid them good-bye, wish them a pleasant journey and a safe return to their homes on the coast.

Animation and Interest.
The scene, for a number of minutes before the departure of the train, was one of great animation and indeed of interest. There was not a face on which there was not a smile. There was not a hand which was not eager to clasp that of a neighbor in friendly grasp. Each person had something to say of a pleasant character to the man who stood beside him and there was not a mortal in the group who did not have something pleasant to impart to the gentlemen who were going to discharge the important trust that had been confided to them.

Of course there was an end to all this felicitation, and the end was reached when the great palatial train known as the Overland Limited of the Southern Pacific Company from the mole drew slowly and majestically into the station. Then there were accelerated hand-shakes, confidential whispers and amid a great deal of enthusiasm the delegates disappeared within the coaches and the train slowly pulled out of the station.

Among those noticed at the station were

ANTI-TRACK BILLS PASS IN N. Y.

By Vote of 26 to 25 Senate Approves of Governor Hughes' Measures to Suppress Gambling at Races.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 11.—The first test vote in the Senate on the anti-race track gambling bills resulted in a victory for the measures—26 to 25. Later both anti-gambling bills passed.

The vote on each bill was 26 to 25, and it closed the most sensational legislative battle of many years. The bills return as a matter of routine to the Assembly, where they originated, but without further vote they will go to the Governor for approval. They take effect on approval.

The first test vote was on the question of an amendment, the effect of which would be to kill the pending bill.

Senator Foster, the Brooklyn member whose serious sickness constituted an element of doubt as to the outcome of Governor Hughes' fight to make gambling at race tracks a crime was better this morning and his physical ailment allowed him to answer to the roll-call. He voted with

OIL-SOAKED SHAVINGS AT FIRE

Incendiary Suspect Arrested and Another Fire Bug Is Believed to Be Still at Large.

Fire of incendiary origin, which broke out in the basement of the home of J. E. Hughes, 2131 1/2 Filbert street, at 4 o'clock this morning, convinces the police department that at least two fire bugs are responsible for the number of blazes of mysterious origin in this city within the past three weeks. William N. Darcey is under arrest at the city prison as a fire bug suspect, he having been taken into custody just after a fire in the basement of Jackson Brothers' drug store, Fourteenth and Market streets, Saturday night.

Other Suspicious Cases.

He was also suspected of having set fire to a number of flats on Market street and to houses at 1115 Bush and 1116 West street. The fire in the Hughes home this morning tends to convince the police that Darcey is either the wrong man or that he has an accomplice. It was at 4 o'clock this morning that J. Armstrong, an employee of H. W. Ross of the Berkeley Free Market, passed the Hughes home.

AFTER BIG CLUB IN SOUTH

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 11.—A complaint was filed today by the city prosecutor against the directors of the Jonathan Club, of which Henry R. Huntington is president and which has as directors six of the most prominent business and professional men of the city.

The defendants are charged with permitting the sale of liquor without a license and the complaint is the second step in the campaign of City Prosecutor Thomas B. Woolwine, who has declared that the clubs of the city must stop selling liquor. The directors of the California Club charged with the same offense a week ago will plead tomorrow.

DYNAMITED STREET CAR

Seven Passengers Injured in Early Morning Outrage by Strikers in Cleveland, Ohio.

CLEVELAND, O., June 11.—The police of Euclid Heights, the suburb in which a Municipal Traction car was blown up by dynamite at an early hour this morning were bending every effort today to run down the miscreants who placed the explosive on the street car tracks. Seven passengers were injured, none fatally, as a result of the explosion.

The car was running slowly when the front wheels struck the explosive. The explosion that followed was heard over a mile. Windows were shattered and seats twisted. The floor of the car was lifted upward, throwing the passengers in a panic-stricken heap on the floor.

Only the slow speed of the car saved it from going over the steep embankment of the road. The explosion lifted it up within a foot of the curb.

The explosive tore off the flange of the wheels, and the motor fell between the rails. Two sticks of dynamite were found on the rails where they had been placed with the intention of blowing up cars bound in the opposite direction.

NO TRACE OF MISSING MAIL POUCHES

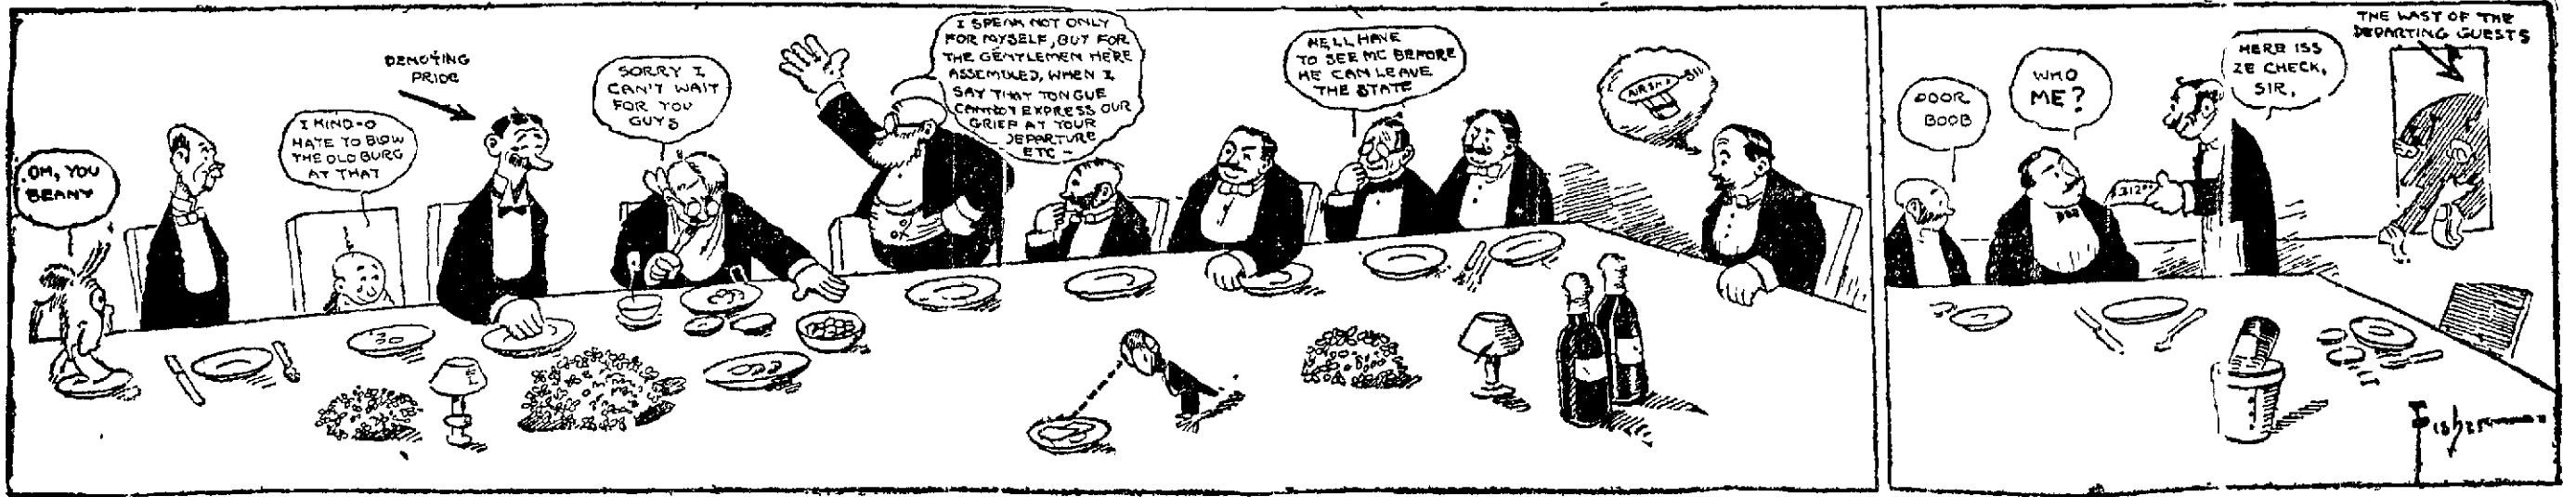

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 11.—There are no important developments in the efforts here to locate the missing registered mail pouch, alleged to contain at least five thousand dollars in currency, which disappeared last Saturday in the Union Depot sub-station of the local post office, according to the statement of the chief post office inspector this morning. That official said that arrests had been made and he would admit that any one was under suspicion.

JUDSON C. BRUSIE'S MEMORY WILL BE VINDICATED BY DEVOTED FRIENDS

Documents and Circumstances Absolutely Establish Innocence of this Honorable Man Who Died of a Broken Heart.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—Judson C. Brusie's memory will be vindicated by his friends who have determined that not the slightest vestige of a cloud shall remain upon his good name. The clear truth of his innocence has been so firmly established by the circumstances and documents that all acquainted with the facts express astonishment that the accusation of misappropriation of funds should ever have been made by officers of the Metropolitan Surety Company.

In addition to the indisputable proof that a mistake was made by the person presenting the complaint comes the startling revelation that the charge against Mr. Brusie grew out of quarrels among officers of the company, the tangled web of reference to matters with which his department of the business was but remotely related.

Vindicate Memory.

Samuel M. Shortridge, the attorney who was one of Mr. Brusie's most intimate friends declares that he will carry out legal measures to vindicate the dead man's reputation and have the police court charges preferred against him expunged from the records.

"I shall take every means known to the law to vindicate Brusie's reputation from the stigma attaching to the charges preferred against him in the police court," said Shortridge. "When the truth is known the charges will be erased from the records. Mr. Brusie was innocent of any wrong doing and his friends will not permit his memory to be clouded by these charges. If necessary civil suits will be brought to get at all the truth and make the vindication complete."

Mr. Brusie's death was lamentable and the occurrences which brought it about are to be deplored.

Shortridge and Brusie had known each other since 1881. They were struggling young attorneys together and their friendship remained unbroken in the face of every kind of vicissitude.

Straight as Any Man.

Equally as strong as Mr. Shortridge in his defense of Mr. Brusie was A. W. Filson, a retired actor now in the real estate business in Los Angeles. Mr. Filson last night said:

"Brusie was as straight as any man that ever lived and he furnished ball for many of the so-called grafters in San Francisco and it didn't surprise me of the politicians who had been waiting a long time for a chance to get even with this big fearless man for certain political whippings he had administered to them on divers occasions."

"That chance came when Brusie went north to Seattle on business connected with the company he represented. On the day before his return to San Francisco the bank in which his own money and $4000 of the funds of the company were on deposit failed. Brusie lost every cent he had in the world. His company lost $4000."

Dies Penniless.

Brusie died penniless. He had no life insurance and belonged to no organization. His widow finds herself now without a cent and virtually dependent on her own resources and her friends for the rest of her life. Brusie always made big money and spent it all as fast as it came in. It is a terrible thing for Mrs. Brusie who has always lived a life of ease.

Deep Regret Expressed.

A coincidence which the San Francisco public that only know Brusie through his cheering plays will appreciate was the arrival here from the East yesterday of Max Dill of Kolb and Dill with a mission to have Brusie write his partner and himself another of those laudatory musical stage affairs like "O. O. and Lonesome Town" which caused thousands of theater patrons to flock away late.

"I was astonished to hear of Mr. Brusie's death," said Max Dill. "It is hard to realize. He was a lovely man, a splendid nature. It was a privilege to know him."

"In trouble the family the club he loved so well championed Brusie's cause. In death his members will pay the full and last homage of respect. A representative of the club is in Los Angeles and will accompany the body here. It is probable the body will be cremated, and with due respect for the wishes of the widow the members of the club will take charge of the funeral."

Unjustifiable Arrest.

"It was an unjustifiable arrest. It is a regrettable death. He told us all only last Saturday he was going to Los Angeles for a brief holiday. It was not secret. How anybody could say he was running away from the State is incomprehensible."

Beth Mann, president of the club made this statement yesterday. Mann understood much of the dead man's character. His rich imagination, charming personality and his strong friendships attracted men continued President Mann. "The better he was known men were certain of his honor. He was much beloved and it is a great loss for him to have been taken away as he was."

Brusie's friends in San Francisco on once telegraphed assurances to Mrs. Brusie that no money would be spared in bringing to light the facts leading to his arrest.

W. I. Matlock, manager of the Family Club and close friend of Brusie, reached Los Angeles yesterday morning. When he learned of Brusie's death on his arrival at the Angelus Hotel he immediately took charge of the situation.

With Clear Name.

Beth Mann also a life long friend of Brusie telegraphed the widow today declaring he would go to any lengths to uncover the facts behind Brusie's arrest and clear his name.

Mrs. Brusie was accompanied in her trip about Los Angeles during the day by Miss Filson.

"It was not necessary for Dr. Quint to tell me what caused my husband's death," she said. "I knew his heart was broken the moment he realized he was under arrest. He was a big, true, honest man. His friends will clear his name of this stigma, no matter who may suffer as a result."

At a brief meeting yesterday Railroad Commissioners H. D. Loveland and Theodore Summelland talked in praise of their dead secretary and elected as his temporary successor E. Sprague Bisbee of Los Angeles, the commission's brilliant Mr. Brusie was the secretary of the proceeding commission four years and had been with the present commission a year and a half. His permanent successor will be chosen at the regular meeting of the commission the second Tuesday of next month.

Painstaking Man.

Mr. Brusie during the year and a half I have known him as secretary of the commission was a most competent and painstaking man, said Commissioner Summelland. His experience in the commission and his ability as a lawyer we always found very helpful to us.

Brusie was a man of good habits, intelligent, conscientious, said Commissioner Loveland. His death is to be greatly deplored.

Books Absolutely Correct.

Bush King's story to the effect that he had examined Brusie's books and found them correct in every respect is something Attorney Macbeth will not discuss yesterday. King is a member of the Family Club and he has been at great pains to inform United States Sub-Treasurer Ruston and others that he found Brusie's books correct and further that the telegrams Brusie sent to bond quarters in the East about having made deposits for the company in a local bank here correspond exactly with the deposits in the bank.

Death Brings Sorrow.

Jud Brusie kind loving who never in his life spoke an unkind word of anyone is now secure from worldly enemies and misdeeds. No damned grudge can follow be and the grave a man who had so many true friends. Eternal sleep is a welcome rest for him in gentle peace of the misfortunes and errors of others a heart that welled to overflow with the grief of his human sentiment is killed forever.

No friend of Jud Brusie—and numbers cannot count them in this State—believes that he ever wronged any person. His business methods were careless but never evil.

Never Took a Dollar.

His books may have shown heedless manner of accounting for transactions but that he took another's dollars for himself no one that was not his make up.

Death's great seal was on the warrant that caused the arrest and detention of this kindly man who had journeyed ill and delirious with his wife to Los Angeles. Had he been any stronger need Jud Brusie could have easily obtained the dollars necessary to settle the disputed accounts with the Metropolitan Surety Company.

But the officials of the concern in eagerness to compel a settlement according to their own methods placed a criminal charge against the man pursued him, caused his arrest as a felon—and the shock to one so finely sensitive meant death.

Tears Come Unrestrained.

Men do not in these days make loud lament when one they loved is suddenly and cruelly taken from their lives. With Brusie's legion of loyal chums and acquaintances the tears come unrestrained. For several years Jud Brusie made his home in San Francisco. He had won generous success as a writer of plays that brought smiles and pleasure to those who find recreation in theaters. In a smaller circle, at the Family, and its as a speaker and he became one of the prominent men of the Legislature.

Moved to Sacramento.

When the session closed he had formed so many friendships here that he concluded to remove his law office sign from law to Sacramento. He did fairly well with his professional work for a time but he did not like the law and by degrees drifted from the business. His ambition was apparently to shine as an orator, sounding his party's planks and being a well read man he liked to pore over books.

Wrote Clever Plays.

The inspiration finally seized him to try his hand at writing plays. It was an easy thing for him to drift in that direction for he had taken an active part in amateur theatricals. While he was paying little attention to the law he kept the family ladder supplied in various ways. Occasionally he would accept engagements as a local newspaper reporter and for a time he was the Sacramento representative of a San Francisco paper, displaying skill as a writer and a newspaperman.

Never Out of Politics.

But he never got away from politics. The people of the Light House Assembly District sent him to represent them in the Legislature where he was made chairman of the ways and means committee. He made a creditable record there, but when he came up again for election he was beaten by a Democrat. Brusie was for a time secretary of the Board of Public Works during the administration of E. E. Locke as commissioner.

Brusie devoted most of his leisure moments to the writing of plays. His first production made in Sacramento was called "The Boss." It was a semi-political play presented by a stock company at the Clunie Theater. Its central figure was intended to represent the late Frank Rhodes, then the local leader in politics. The principal part was played by James M. Ward, the old time comedian. While the play had some bright things in it it did not prove a success. Brusie himself played one of the characters.

Good War Drama.

His next effort was John Brown's Boy, a war drama of good conception and it was laid away after a week's run at the Clunie. But the inspiring playwright did not despair. He kept at work and finally completed a rural drama of "The Old Homestead" type which he called "The Estate of Hannibal Howe." It had several well drawn and original characters in it and it was so well received here that it was afterwards produced with great success at the Old Grand Opera House in San Francisco.

Triumph in San Francisco.

On the opening night in San Francisco practiced the medical profession in Amador county for many years took an active part in the political affairs of California during his lifetime. Judson Brusie was a man of sunny disposition always ready for a romp. He was ever boyish in his ways and made friends wherever he went. The cares of life were as light as air to him.

He was well versed in his profession, displaying something of a genius in his vocation but he was totally lacking, say his friends in business judgment—and that was those friends in what caused the bright young man's downfall and the accompanying shock the humiliation of arrest upon a felony charge, broke his heart and death ensued.

Affecting Scenes at Deathbed of Judson C. Brusie

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—There were affecting scenes at the California Hospital at the time of Judson C. Brusie's death. Twelve hours earlier, Mrs. Brusie, accompanied by Mrs. A. W. Filson, an old friend living at Hollywood had been chatting cheerfully at the bedside of her

As to Running Mates.

The choice of the two great parties for Presidential candidates being foregone, interest centers on the probabilities as to running mates. The main proposition has so completely absorbed interest up to the present time that the second places have been given the overlook.

There is about as much uncertainty as to Bryan's mate as there is to Taft's. But it is not regarded as such a vital matter. Two names are prominent in this connection—John Mitchell, representing organized labor more essentially than the Democracy of Jefferson and Jackson, and Governor Johnson of Minnesota. The latter was picked by Henry Watterson, when he took Bryan at his word, to the effect that Bryan would get out of the way on his own account if a candidate were found who would more signally represent the Democratic party and more effectually galvanize into new life its dormant elements. But after a year of rather strenuous booming the Kentucky editor gave over the task, and Johnson's name disappeared from the list of possibles. It is not believed he would now consent to take second place. And it is not believed that Bryan would hysterically appeal to him to do so.

Mitchell must be regarded as questionable Vice-Presidential material by the old-line Democrats, especially of the South, where organized labor has not made striking headway. Placing him on the ticket would be on a par with other efforts in similar emergencies, however—notably the nomination of Horace Greeley to head the Democratic ticket in 1872. It is obvious that this nomination would be a move of such uncertainty that it is not likely to be tried, unless the convention gets in a hurry to catch a train, as it did when it nominated Henry Cassaway Davis four years ago, or unless it elects to do the fantastic, as when it stood for two tails to the Democratic kite in 1896.

There is a feeling that the Republican running mate should come from the East. To us in California the "East" is vaguely accepted as any part of the country beyond the Mississippi. But in the region of denser population it means the farther reaches on the Atlantic seaboard. Taft is regarded there as a Western man, and the argument proceeds that the head of the ticket being a Western man, the Vice-Presidential candidate should come from the East, as it is there regarded; the conservative section of the country, which is after all the stronghold of steadfast Republicanism.

These considerations operate against the chances of Senator Dooliver, though there is also a protest from the line Republicans of Iowa against her noted son, on the ground that his resignation from the Senate would leave a vacancy that would be likely to renew the Cummins acrimony, so recently ended through the reelection of Senator Allison.

Governor Hughes' tactless campaign for the Presidential nomination somewhat complicates the selection of a candidate for the second place on the ticket. Under other conditions Hughes himself would have been a strong candidate, though it is not known whether he would have consented; but the persistence of his sponsors in such a hopeless situation necessarily interferences with a free canvass of the field with reference to an acceptable candidate from New York for the second place.

Californians are not likely to accept as serious the announced ambition of John Hays Hammond in this connection.

Governor Guild of Massachusetts seems available material, but might suffer from lack of national prominence. Cortelyou would be acceptable to the President, according to the dispatches, and it would remain to be demonstrated how his candidacy would appeal to the masses. It is certain that the President's indorsement would go a long way in establishing him in the good graces of the Republican rank and file.

It may be summed up that the desire of the Republican managers is to select a candidate for the second place who will bring strength because of the locality whence he hails and also through his personal qualities and record; and it is possible that the Man with the Sack, as in the case of Davis four years ago, will have the call on the opposition, there being no other certain quality in their peculiar situation so absolutely necessary in the prosecution of the campaign.

Chicago Delegates.

Today at 10 o'clock there departed for Chicago twenty representative Republicans to speak for California in the national convention.

They are recognized as fully representing not only the great political party that is in majority in this State, but its best citizenship as well, and are not only under instructions from their constituents to vote for William H. Taft, but are personally enthusiastic about it. That is the way they feel on their own account.

This reminder is justified because of the acrimonious effort made a short time ago to discredit them in advance; to make it appear that those who would be nominated by the regular Republican party would be traitors to the wishes of the people. There never was any ground for the malignant charges and representations of the newspapers of the so-called Lincoln-Roosevelt League that the regular and steadfast Republicans of California were secretly hostile to the candidacy of Taft.

It is not generally known what lengths of mendacity were fathomed by special envoys to the President and party leaders in the effort to discredit the Republican organization that selected these delegates. It is not extravagant to say that the party and the State escaped a political disaster when these efforts proved futile.

And now there is speeding eastward as fine a body of citizens as ever went from this State to represent it at a national convention. They have been recognized by the Taft forces and the Republican leaders at the East as truly representative and voicing the sentiment of the party of the State.

Besides the delegates on the train that left this morning were other eminent Republicans, some of whom were summoned to confer with party managers, that the most effective work may follow the selection of a candidate and the launching of the platform upon which he is to make the campaign.

The former chairman of the State Republican Committee was especially invited to make the journey for the purpose of meeting the party leaders in conference, of informing them of the conditions here and of taking counsel as to general issues and campaign exigencies.

To the chairman of the delegates has been detailed the honor of seconding the nomination of Taft, and the nation will get a flavor of California oratory in the polemics of the occasion.

The good wishes and faith of the Republicans of the State will go with this delegation as it proceeds eastward to do its share in a great history-making event.

Mr. Snook's Successor.

An attempt is made by the San Francisco Call to show that the appointment of Fletcher Cutler as attorney to the Board of Regents in the place of Charles E. Snook, term expired, is a malignant political proceeding. The appointee is persona grata to the Governor and succeeds a gentleman who was persona grata to the Governor of four years ago, and who succeeded an incumbent in the identical manner in which he has been superseded.

If there were no other reason than that of political predilection in thus filling an office of this character, it would be justified by all usage and precedent.

Governor Gillett is not only the Governor of California, but by virtue of his office the head of the Board of Regents of the State University. In both these high offices he has been politically assailed and his common honesty impugned by an organization of which the official who has failed of reappointment was a particular light. Self-respect was an all-sufficient justification for the chief executive of the State to take action that he did. There being no violence to any of the proprieties in making the change, the plain right of the Governor to make his political family more homogeneous is beyond reasonable question. If it is argued that the appointment by a former Governor unfriendly to the present regime of the official who was displaced does not amount to cause for removal, it may be more logically held that neither is it ground for reappointment.

It was to be expected that a newspaper that is seizing upon every happening and indulging in the most reckless misrepresentations to misinform and befoul the people would make great ado over this commonplace incident. But it is a fact that will be at once recognized that in his appointments Governor Gillett by no means suffers in comparison with his predecessor. In this instance he has appointed one man to act as the State's attorney instead of another whose term was out; an action in general that is entirely within his province and that in particular is perfectly justifiable.

KNOWLAND IN FAVOR OF
3RD. DISTRICT PRIMARIES

Willing to Bear Part of Election Expense

The following letter has been sent to the chairman of the Republican County Central Committee in Contra Costa county by Congressman Joseph R. Knowland of Alameda county, and a similar letter to the Republican chairman of Solano county:

"Oakland, Cal., June 10, 1908.

"Mr. A. B. McKenzie, Chairman Republican County Central Committee, Martinez, Cal.

"My Dear Sir: 'At a recent meeting held in this city I publicly declared myself in favor of lawful primaries throughout the Third Congressional District. I address this letter in order that my views may be brought to the attention of the Republican County Central Committee of Contra Costa county.

In Power of Voters to Call Primaries.

"Since 1901, the date of the enactment of the present primary law, the voters of any political sub-division throughout the State of California have had it wholly within their power to make the primary law mandatory in their respective localities, neither Congressional committees, nor other political governing bodies, having had authority to call lawful primaries in those districts where the law is not now necessary.

"The procedure is simple. It is necessary only that a petition be circulated among the voters calling for a special election, which petition must contain signatures equal in number to one-half of the votes cast at the last general election. This petition is then presented to the City Council or Board of Trustees of any city or town, or to the Board of Supervisors of any county. Upon the presentation of such petition the governing body is compelled to submit the question to a vote of the people, and if a majority declare in favor of the primary law for the respective locality, the law goes into full force and effect.

Knowland Willing to Bear Part of Expense.

"If the voters desire that the provisions of the State Primary Law shall be in force in Contra Costa county by August 11th, the date of the next general primary election, time yet remains in which to circulate the necessary petitions if immediate action is taken. I am willing to bear part of the expense which the circulation of these petitions may incur.

"Primary elections held outside of the provisions of the State law are, in my opinion, a farce. The sacredness of the ballot is not properly safeguarded in any election where no penalties are provided for illegal voting. The very satisfactory laws that now protect voters at a general election, guaranteeing a fair expression of the popular will, apply with equal force to all elections held under the provisions of the State Primary Law.

"In view of the facts as above set forth, I personally favor placing Contra Costa county under the provisions of the State Primary Law, but I appreciate that the matter rests entirely with the people of that county.

"Very truly yours,

J. R. KNOWLAND."

TROOPS PERFORM
WONDERFUL FEAT

3000 Marching From Different Spots to Reach Camp at Same Time.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Unless something goes wrong in the calculations of General Frederick D. Grant between now and next Saturday noon, the 3000 soldiers of the regular army under his command, who are marching from all points of the compass toward the village of Fredericks, Jefferson county, N. Y., will perform a military feat unparalleled in the history of the American army.

When General Grant announced that he intended to march the ten detachments of men from points hundreds of miles apart and have them meet at a common center within three hours of one another, military men of experience were inclined to say it could not be done. After looking over the telegraphic reports from the commanding officers of the ten detachments, General Grant stated that he fully expected to have all his troops arrive at the big camp at Pine Plains within one hour of the time set, which is next Saturday noon.

SEATTLE, June 11.—"Swiftwater Bill" Gates, now at Rawhide, Nevada, has been written to by the Catholic Fathers of a parochial school here, in which they intimate that he should pay for at least a part of the keep of his six-year-old son, Freddie, who was given into the custody of the fathers at the time of Gates' divorce from Berta Beebe Gates two years ago. Gates has amassed a fortune of $25,000. It is declared, in the new mining camp selling drinking water at $4 a barrel to the thirsty people and speculating in mining stocks.

MISTAKES ABOUT Marriage Laws of Great Britain

By a Church of England Clergyman

In the course of many years' experience in tying the "hymen" knot, a clergyman is frequently struck by the number of mistakes people make with reference to the preliminaries necessary for getting married, writes a Church of England clergyman, whose parish is in London.

There seems to be an impression in the minds of many, says the writer, that the parents' written or verbal consent is necessary if one of the parties is under the age of 21. It is not so. It is true that the parent has the right to forbid the wedding if his son (or daughter) has not attained the majority, but if nothing is said to the contrary the clergyman assumes that the father has no objection to the marriage taking place.

It is very foolish for couples to give false particulars with regard to names, age and addresses. The present writer was once performing a marriage ceremony when he was obliged to stop, in consequence of having reached him that the bride had given an incorrect address.

Some people still retain the idea that a marriage must take place before 12 o'clock in the day, but under the present law weddings may be solemnized until 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

A mistake not infrequently made is that clergymen are compelled to marry people, whether they wish to or no. This is incorrect; a clergyman is quite within his rights in refusing to perform a marriage ceremony, even if the contracting parties are both residing in his parish.

One often reads in the papers of people being married by "special license." In most cases this is quite an erroneous expression. A "special license" is a very expensive and troublesome thing to get and it entitles the holders to get married at any hour of the day. But an ordinary marriage license is a very different thing, and is often procured as a substitute for having banns published in church. But a marriage by ordinary license in Great Britain must take place, as in the case of a marriage after banns, before 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Speaking of "special" licenses, the bridegroom at a grand function in a large, fashionable Western church arrived too late for the wedding ceremony to be performed. Lord B— (the bridegroom) was at his wife's end to know what to do, as he had only an ordinary marriage license. The lady had a private income of £40,000 a year and expense was no object, so at the suggestion of the clergyman he hired a hansom and procured a special license, which enabled him to be married after the customary hour fixed as the legal time-limit. This instance should be a warning and advantage of special licenses. They are, however, very rarely used, and in most cases it is quite incorrect to speak of people as being married by "special license." Marriages in church take place almost invariably "by license" or "after banns," as is shown by the marriage registers, "license" meaning the ordinary marriage license. But nowadays the great majority of people are married after the publication of banns.

Marriages may be solemnized any time within three months of the publication of banns, and need not take place immediately after they have been published "for the third time of asking."

"SQUASHES" NOT TO LIKING OF MRS. DREXEL

LONDON.—Mrs. Anthony Drexel, who played such a prominent part in the social life of London last year will make her Carlton house terrace mansion a center of gaiety. The house has been made spick and span. Her daughter, Miss Margaretta, is fond of dancing and her mother intends that she shall have her fill of pleasure.

There was a foolish report last fall to the effect that the girl intended entering a convent, but nothing is further from her mind.

She thinks too much of the world and what it has to offer a girl in her position ever to renounce it. The Philadelphia woman intends to limit her invitations this year. She has had enough of "squashes." So have all those who attended her ball last year on the occasion of the "coming out" of Margaretta. Every room in the big house was requisitioned for dancing, and it is said that many guests who arrived late, seeing the crowded state of affairs, left without entering.

CHAMPION MATCHMAKER AMONG

N. Y. SMART SET

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Melissa C. Wilson, wife of Richard T. Wilson, the banker, died at her home on Fifth avenue. She had been failing for some time.

Mrs. Wilson was the mother of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mrs. Ogden Goelet and Orme Wilson, whose wife, formerly Miss Caroline Astor, is the daughter of Mrs. William Astor and sister of John Jacob Astor. Richard T. Wilson, Jr. is also her son.

The fact that three of her children married into the Astors, the Vanderbilts and the Goellets, the three richest families, as well as the most influential socially in the country, made her a power in the most exclusive set in New York.

and Newport. Mrs. Wilson was good-naturedly called the champion matchmaker in New York society.

Mrs. Wilson was Miss Melissa C. Johnston of Macon, Ga. She and her husband came to New York soon after the civil war. Mr. Wilson was one of the agents of the Confederate government and had charge of the sale of its cotton in Europe during the war.

Mr. Wilson founded the banking house of R. T. Wilson & Co. and rapidly became a figure of importance in the financial district, while Mrs. Wilson, possessing tact, charm and social qualifications, soon achieved a conspicuous place in society.

Grand Daughter of Bismarck Secretly Betrothed to Young Student of Divinity

BERLIN.—Details of the romantic secret engagement of the Countess Hertha von Bismarck, eldest living grandchild of the famous iron chancellor, to a young theologian of humble origin, who was just about to enter the evangelical priesthood, have become known. The news of the engagement so far is known only in the inner circles of German society.

The young man has been for several years engaged as private tutor to the children of the Countess. Wilhelm von Bismarck, widow of Prince Bismarck's second son, at the castle Schoenhau, the estate where the founder of the German empire once lived. The tutor had endeavored himself not only to the Bismarck family, but also to the von Arnim family, of which the Countess Wilhelm is a member.

About a week ago the tutor was to undergo the final stage of probation for the priesthood by preaching the inaugural sermon in the parish church of Schoenhau. The engagement was so secret that the event was fully shared by his employers and was, indeed, to take place under their auspices.

Two days before the appointed day the superintendent of the diocese called upon the Countess von Bismarck and made the astonishing announcement that the church authorities could not permit the young man to enter the pulpit because of rumors that he had secretly engaged to one of the daughters of the Bismarck household.

The countess declined to credit this statement and summoned her three daughters, the Countesses Hertha, Irene and Dorothea, and, respectively, 22, 20 and 16 years. The mother repeated the superintendent's assertion to her daughters, smilingly confident that she was wrong. She was, however, the Countess's daughter, who was secretly betrothed to the tutor.

American Hostesses Come to the Rescue of the London Season.

LONDON.—American hostesses have again come to the rescue of London society. No less an authority than King Edward has declared that were it not for the American women here there would be no such thing as a London "season." And this year the Yankee matrons have just about saved the historic institution from extinction.

Mrs. Potter Palmer is making preparations to strengthen her claim to the title of greatest of American hostesses in London. The Chicago society woman has always entertained on a lavish scale, but up to this season has been denied the more intimate recognition of the king. As the smile of Edward has been the only ticket of admission to the most exclusive circle of English society, the American woman has labored under a severe handicap. But last month at Biarritz Mrs. Palmer entertained his majesty at dinner and achieved the ambition of her lifetime.

Hampden House, the big mansion of the Duke of Abercorn, on Green street, which Mrs. Palmer has rented for several years and which some say she has bought, has been renovated and prepared for her coming. She will give a series of dinners during the season, and can be relied upon to introduce the latest of English and French celebrities. She delights to gather around her a thoroughly bohemian crowd and to have an unconventional evening.

She has a horror of the solidity and dullness of society with a capital S. Recently she was heard to say: "I do not mind being shocked or thrilled, or even horrified by people, but to be bored is unbearable." That is the keynote to her entertainments.

Mrs. Waldorf Astor Jr. has obtained a London house for the season, but most of her entertaining will be done at Cliveden. She adores the beautiful place given to her as a wedding present by her father-in-law. The Connaughts are again to stay with her for a few days. It is said she will receive a visit from King Edward.

Such an event seemed an utter impossibility to those who remember the memorable rumper between the king when he was Prince of Wales and the father-in-law of Mrs. Astor. It is said the wonderful diplomacy of the American woman, combined with her great beauty and charm, have prevailed upon the king to forgive if he cannot forget.

The Duchess of Roxburgh, the greatest disappointment in the way of a hostess that ever came from across the Atlantic, will do just as much as her sour husband will allow her. That will be precious little. When speaking of her daughter recently Mrs. Ogden Goelet said:

"If May had married a retired tradesman instead of Roxburgh she would be having far more fun." However, the Duchess is sure to give a couple of royal dinners.

Little Girl Lives After 60 Cars Pass Over Her

MURPHYSEBORO.—Bentley, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bagley, residing 16 miles west of this city, had a marvelous escape from death when an Illinois Central freight train of sixty cars passed over her and left her unconscious lying in the center of the track.

The family lives near the track and the child attempted to follow her father to work. In crossing the track she fell and before she could regain her footing the train was upon her, the engine and sixty cars passing over her body. The unconscious child was picked up by the mother. She was suffering from an ugly gash in the back of her head and had many other bruises.

Her clothing was badly soiled and torn, telling of her horrible experience and narrow escape from death. In a few hours doctors restored the little tot to consciousness and she is now recovering nicely.

Determined Lady Violinist Wins Her Favorite Instrument After a Fight and over the Dead Body of an Attorney Who Had Espoused Her Cause

NEW YORK.—Maud Powell, the noted violinist, has a very old and costly violin which has caused her much worry and trouble for fear she would lose it. Two people have claimed it and one brought suit for its recovery, but this was settled out of court last week, and now Miss Powell, who in private life is Mrs. H. G. Turner, of No. 255 West Ninety-seventh street, feels that she can safely call the violin her own.

The instrument in question was bought by the well-known dealer, Schilbach, of this city, for $270. Miss Powell paid $4000 for it and has already refused an offer of $10,000.

Two years ago a German peddler named Samsen, offered to sell an old, dusty, cheap looking violin to Schilbach. The trained eye of the expert immediately saw that beneath its dust and dirt was a famous and valuable Guadagnini.

Schilbach thought he might find a buyer. Accordingly Samsen left it and Schilbach had a music teacher purchase it and then give it over to him. Samsen charged the teacher $300 and gave the violin dealer 10 per cent commission. So Schilbach really obtained the fiddle for $270.

The instrument was made in 1775 by Giovanni Battista Guadagnini and was in good condition.

When Miss Powell first saw the violin a year ago she recognized its worth and took it on a concert tour, agreeing to pay Schilbach $4000 if it suited her. She made a tour, and while in Boston was heard by Samsen, who originally owned the violin. He recognized and claimed it, saying that when he sold it to Schilbach's agent he was unaware of its great value.

Miss Powell refused to give it up and sent the $4000 to Schilbach, as she had agreed. He sent the money back, saying that somebody had offered him $10,000 and that she would have to give it up. This she refused to do, and Schilbach brought suit.

The famous violinist engaged Mortimer Flagg to defend her suit. After he heard her play the instrument, he became so entranced by its exquisite tone that he declared Schilbach would never get the violin unless it was over his dead body. Flagg was killed in an auto accident on March 14 last.

Miss Powell then engaged William Black, a lawyer of 111 Broadway, and just as the suit was to come to trial last week, Schilbach's lawyer agreed to compromise. Miss Powell received the violin on the payment of the $4000 and had to pay counsel fee to Schilbach's lawyer.

Royal Church of the Strangers IS CHAPEL IN WHICH Miss Jean Reid Is to be Married

A great deal of nonsense is being written and cabled from the other side concerning the marriage of Miss Jean Reid and Hon. John Hubert Ward. The Chapel Royal, where the ceremony is to take place, has been used more than once recently for such affairs and, if I am not at fault, it will not be the first time an American has been married there. It was called into requisition during the off season and has been the scene of the marriages of German cousins and ladies in waiting and other foreign nobilities. It is a species of Royal Church of the Strangers, says Town Topics. It is small, but it seems to accommodate a good many people. On Christmas morning it is thrown open to the public and many people attended the service for the sake of the music and for the interesting sight of the gentlemen and children of the Chapel Royal in their bright red and gold tunics of Tudor times. These picturesque participants will probably play a part at the wedding on June 22. D. O. Mills, who has been in feeble health, will go over with his son Ogden the first week in June. He is credited with having given a London house to the couple and an income of $80,000 a year. As the Hon. Mr. Ward is an equerry to the King and as this personage is quite friendly to Ambassador Reid, there is little doubt that he will attend the ceremony and perhaps afterward honor Dorchester House, which is to be thrown open for a large reception, with his presence.

TO WED AGAIN

Louise Dresser, the handsome prima donna of "The Old Behind the Counter" company will try matrimony once again early in June.

The girl was divorced by legal process during the winter. The bridegroom to be is none other than Jack Gardner, the young actor who has made a hit in "The Yankee Prince."

A glimpse at Miss Dresser's troussseau would bring exclamations of admiration from even the sourdest old maid.

Miss Dresser says: "I dare not have my gowns sent home yet for fear I will be tempted to wear them before the wedding."

Bridal Roses on Their Breasts As Lovers Carried Out Death Pact

WILKES-BARRE, Penn.—About to sacrifice himself to marry for two years and deeply in love with each other, Annie Kares, of Kingston and Sebastian Gyula, of this city, fulfilled a death pact today, leaving a pathetic note saying there was nothing else for them to do.

They had arranged it all deliberately. Gyula had purchased a revolver and this morning while Mrs. Anna Benedict, the girl's mother, was away they attended themselves in their best clothes as for a wedding, pinned bridal roses on their breasts and after writing a letter and two notes of farewell and final directions calmly met death together.

The young girl lay upon a bed, on which she had put the best bed clothes in the house, and, Gyula, evidently shot her in the left temple and a moment later killed himself in the same way. Their last act was to throw their arms around each other, and in that position sacrifice their lives. Their eyes fixed upon each other, the mother found them hours later.

The girl was married a year ago to Michael Kares, who deserted her. Three months ago she met young Gyula, who had been chosen to look after the collection of a small fortune recently left to Mrs. Benedict by a relative.

A week ago the couple resolved that the girl should get a divorce and they should wed, though they would have to leave their church. They learned it would take at least two years to procure a divorce, and finally Mrs. Benedict, decided to take her daughter to Europe. The death pact followed.

In the girl's farewell letter was the distinctly feminine appeal that nothing she had when married should be placed upon her. They will be buried together.

Fear

The mechanism of that sensation which we call fear is declared by Dr. Binet-Sangle of Paris to be the explanation of the unpleasant feeling. He describes the mechanism as follows:

A sensation of horror is felt by the mind at the approach of any combination of circumstances which may limit one's action or energy in the world, even for the shortest space of time. On the sensation impressing itself upon the brain a physiological modification takes place in the organism, the normal status being

Says French Doctor Causes Electrical Current Between Brain and Body to Become Upset

In such a way as to cause the judgment to fall. In the ordinary state of mind the electrical currents of the body and the brain are in perfect working order, and once this physical condition is changed the circuits begin to be interrupted and you feel, for example, your lower extremities less firm under your torso. In cases (and remember you may be the worst man in the world, fear having to do with your essential nature) you begin to tremble simply because of the general contraction of your Shall Women Carry Revolvers at Night?

DES MOINES.—Shall the club women of Des Moines carry revolvers when they go out on the streets at night? This is the question that has the Des Moines Woman's Club torn completely asunder.

Probably half of the members of this fashionable organization side with their former president, Mrs. W. F. Mitchell, who created a sensation by declaring that the women should carry pistols and shoot to kill if accosted by any man, white or black. This declaration followed assaults upon two prominent white women of Des Moines by negroes.

But the other half of the club is opposed to the idea. Mrs. J. G. Berryhill, wife of a millionaire lumberman, is the moving spirit in the anti. It isn't so much that these opposing the idea are against it for moral reasons, but largely because they admit they would be afraid to shoot the horrid weapons if they had them.

Mrs. Mitchell's idea assumed an amazing popularity the very minute she came out publicly in the papers in favor of the woman's revolver brigade. Immediately women from all sections of the city apprehensive over the fates of their sisters took it up. So intense did the feeling become that women, in a body of twenty-five, went to the City Hall and asked permission of Mayor Mathis to put the novel suggestion into effect. Mayor Mathis told them that the request was too much of an innovation to be settled without time for thought. He is still thinking.

But after the woman began to think it over themselves and to ponder just what it would mean to stroll about the city with a 48-caliber revolver in each reach, many began to get what in vulgar terms would be called "cold feet." Then Mrs. Berryhill began to oppose the idea, and soon the Woman's Club found itself divided.

At a recent meeting the question was taken up and warmly discussed.

"I don't know whether I could shoot a revolver if I had one," said Mrs. Berry-hill.

"You could if occasion required, to save yourself. It wasn't, was the reply, and thus it went until finally the women were hopelessly disagreed.

But the women are agreed upon one point. That is the question of having the Iowa laws on criminal assault so changed as to make it possible to convict the criminal without the necessity of corroborative evidence, which is always difficult to obtain, and a petition to that effect to the Legislature is being signed by the women.

GIRL BATHER WINS IN FIGHT AGAINST DEATH IN DEPTHS OF OCEAN

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Two score passengers aboard the yacht Olga were assured that the black object was a human being a boat was lowered and made its way to the spot where Miss McLaughlin was still floating, and she was rescued.

Startled passengers helped in the work of restoration, and the girl, who was just passing from consciousness when taken from the water, came to in a few minutes.

According to Miss McLaughlin's story she went in bathing in the surf off Gramercy place, at the mouth of the inlet, and was caught in the swift tide sweeping outward. Being able to swim she felt no alarm at first, but found that she could not reach the beach across the swift stream which makes the inlet channel.

Then she made for the bell buoy off the inlet. It carries a platform sufficient to make a stand on which she could rest. She missed the buoy by several feet and was swept out to sea, apparently beyond hope of rescue.

"When I saw the Olga I tried to scream, but found that my voice was entirely gone," said Miss McLaughlin to the reporter. "I had lost the power of swimming, but I could still float. I tried to wave my arms, only to go down every time I made an effort to do so. I prayed that somebody aboard the Olga might see me, and I believe that my prayer was answered. She caught me. Women in the yacht knelt and gave thanks that they had been able to save the girl from death."

Miss McLaughlin is still prostrated from her experience, but is out of danger.

MOST YOUTHFUL CONFESSED THIEF YET ON RECORD IN OAKLAND

CLERGYMAN'S SON IS HELD IN JAIL

Smallest Self-Confessed Thief Has Prison Companion Stricken With Wanderlust.

Leon Disher of 2118 Summit street, East Oakland, a son of the Rev. Geo. W. Disher, who is but 11 years of age and the smallest self-confessed thief who has ever fallen into the hands of the local police department, is under arrest at the city prison for the theft of $35 in gold from his father. When arrested last evening at Idora Park, where he was spending money like a gambler, he had $51.05 in his possession, having spent the other money in various ways.

Bought a Cornet.

At a local clothier's he paid $10 as a deposit on a suit of clothes, bought a cornet for $10 which he was carrying under his arm when taken into custody, and his pockets were bulging with candy, pop corn, chewing gum and other sweets. He took rides on the scenic railway, on the trolley, red candy to the bears and was simply whooping things up when his lavish expenditures of his ill-gotten gains attracted the attention of the park policeman.

White Elephant to Police.

According to the police, young Disher is an incorrigible. He has been in trouble on many occasions and steals whatever comes to his hands. He proves to be a regular white elephant to the police and a source of worry to his parents.

Boy's Wanderlust.

There is another youngster in the city prison even younger than Disher, this being James Roast of 55 Green street, San Francisco, who runs away from home on every occasion. He has traveled hundreds of miles within the past two years and his parents are finally convinced that he will travel many more before he is two years older, so madly does the wanderlust rule his blood. While he is said to be of an adventurous turn of mind, he has so far shown no inclination to take that which does not belong to him, his only fault being his inclination to live anywhere but at his own home.

This boy will also be turned over to his parents.

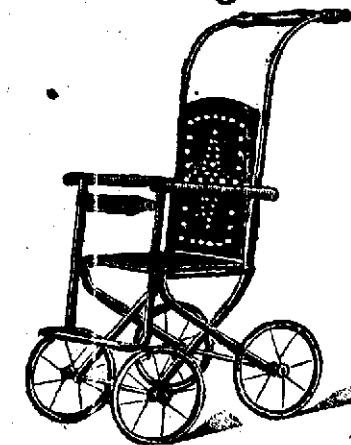

Walked 100 Miles.

His last adventure was to walk from San Francisco to San Jose and then from San Jose to Oakland, taking the route usually traveled by wheelmen and usually reckoned at 100 miles. His identity was disclosed when he applied to one of the attendants at the Columbia Theater for ten cents to pay ferry fare to San Francisco. He remarked that he didn't mind the walking, but swimming across the bay was a job he didn't like to tackle.

Mrs. S. L. Bowen, of Wayne, W. Va., writes: "I was a sufferer from kidney disease, so that at times could not get out of bed, and when I did I could not stand straight. I took Foley's Kidney Remedy. One dollar bottle and part of the second cured me entirely. Foley's Kidney Remedy works wonders where others are a total failure. Sold by all druggists."

BENEFIT PLANNED FOR AID SOCIETY

MISS GLADYS WEBSTER.

ELSIE C. CAHILL.

Delightful Entertainment to Be Given Next Wednesday Evening at St. Andrews' Church

Under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of St. Andrews' Church, a delightful entertainment will be given next Wednesday evening in the parlors of the church, Twelfth and Magnolia streets. Unusual interest has been displayed in the coming event, which promises to be a great success. It will be one of a series of affairs to be given in the near future. The entertainments given in the past by the Ladies Aid Society have proved delightful socials. Many of the leading parishioners of the church have taken an active part in the entertainments.

The program which will be rendered Wednesday evening is as follows:
Cornet solo.....Miss Elsie Cahill
Recitation.....Miss Anita Laksen
Piano solo.....Miss Audrey Beers
Recitation.....Miss Gladys Webster
Vocal solo.....Miss Edith Wilkins
Piano solo.....Miss Marian Blood

'SPEED BURNERS' PUT UP $25 BAIL

New Rule of Police Reducing Deposit Meets With Approval of Automobileists.

William Jones, J. C. Hamilton and W. B. Roberts, appeared in the police court for trial this morning on a charge of violating the speed limit. Roberts was fined $10, Hamilton was dismissed while Jones demanded and was granted a jury trial, which was set for July 14. These three men were the first to be arrested under the new rule of the department fixing the bail at $25 instead of $50 as heretofore. As the fines rarely exceed $10, it was agreed that the bail of $50 was excessive and was accordingly reduced. This change has met with the hearty approval of the "speed burners" who fall into the clutches of the law.

TWO INJURED WHEN HORSE RUNS AWAY

N. E. Williams and Thomas Hines, iron moulders, residing at 2445 Ashby avenue, Berkeley, were painfully injured last evening by being thrown from a wagon in which they were riding near Dublin. The horse ran away and the two occupants of the wagon were hurled to the ground. Williams sustained a fracture of two ribs while Hines received several abrasions about the face and body. They were taken to the receiving hospital in this city, where they were given treatment.

BILLEK MUST HANG, SAYS THE SUPREME COURT—NOW THERE WILL BE SPECTACULAR FIGHT TO SAVE THIS MAN'S LIFE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 11.—The Supreme Court this morning refused to stay the execution of Billek, the Chicago murderer, who killed Mary Vavra.

What will be one of the most unusual efforts ever made to save the life of a condemned murderer will be made today on behalf of Billek. A series of meetings beginning with one at noon in the Great Northern Theater, has been arranged by Father Peter J. O'Callaghan of the Paulist Fathers. The meetings are termed by Father O'Callaghan "A whirlwind finish of his campaign for justice for an innocent man." Father O'Callaghan will be the principal speaker at the meetings which the O'Callaghan club will serve to arouse public sentiment in favor of the condemned man. In all of his speeches Father O'Callaghan will review the entire case and conclude with an appeal to his audience to send letters and telegrams to Governor Dineen urging the executive to commute Billek's sentence to life imprisonment.

REFUSED TO CHEAPEN OFFICE

Native Daughters Vote Down Proposition to Confer Past Grand President Honors.

LODI, June 11.—When the third day's session of the grand parlor of the Native Daughters of the Golden West assembled this morning a heated debate took place over a resolution from Aita parlor, San Francisco, asking that past grand president honors be conferred upon Mrs. Steinbach of the same parlor, because she temporarily filled this important post years ago.

The same resolution was defeated in Sacramento in 1902, the committee at that time reporting back that only those who had served through all the offices should be endowed with the honor; the committee also reporting that such a measure would cheapen the office. The same report was brought back today.

Grand President Foley's recommendations met with stubborn opposition. The debate is consuming much of the day. This afternoon the candidates for officers will be nominated, and tomorrow the election will occur.

Native Daughters to Aid Homeless Waifs of State

LODI, June 11.—Miss Katherine Felton, secretary of the Associated Charities of San Francisco, was given the privilege of the floor to speak on the work of the children's agency. She desired the Native Daughters, as well as the Native Sons, to co-operate with the agency in finding homes for foundling little ones. She was received with intense enthusiasm by the grand parlor and was given by unanimous acclaim a rising vote of thanks. Miss Felton was accompanied by Miss Helen Templeton, also of the Associated Charities.

At the convention of its recent grand parlor the Native Sons appointed a committee, of which Judge Carroll Cook was chairman, to co-operate with the Native Daughters, and the corresponding committee from the Native Daughters will probably be named today.

Past Grand President Bussaniss told the grand parlor amid applause, of the birth of a daughter to Mrs. Dana Buck the day the parlor opened, making the third generation of native daughters in a family. Chesenta Parlor of Ferndale, Humboldt county, of which Grand Vice President Anna L. Monroe is a member, has invited the grand parlor to meet there in 1909. Oakland and Del Monte are also warm contestants for the honor.

EAGLES' FAREWELL TO DEPARTING BROTHER

Seventy members of the local lodge of Eagles, headed by President E. G. Buswell, Jr., and vice-president Sam Short, went to the Sixteenth street station last night to bid farewell to Fred Freulich. Freulich, accompanied by Mrs. Freulich, was about to take the train for the north when his brother Eagles arrived.

Freulich was visibly overcome by the reception accorded him. Tears stood in his eyes and his voice as he told his visitors how glad he was to see them and to realize that he was not forgotten.

Forgot Handkerchief.
Freulich was busy packing. Freulich forgot his pocket handkerchief and as the tears commenced to roll down his cheeks, he drew an envelope from his pocket, this being the first thing that came handy, and used it to wipe away the tears which were clouding his vision. He then threw the envelope away.

Lost Berth Ticket.
When the train was pulling out, he learned that the envelope had contained his berth ticket. This morning Short was advised by telegram that Freulich had been obliged to sit up all night as some man without a conscience learned of the facts of the case and had literally tipped the car porter with the result that he crawled into Freulich's berth. Freulich had thrown away his ticket and take no other.

JOSE STILL HAS OLD CHARMS IN VOICE

Drawing Large Crowds Each Night to the Macdonough and His Play and Players Are Worth While.

Richard Jose of whom it is popularly said that he robbed the nightingale of her voice, is making a great hit as the leading man in the farce comedy "Don't Tell My Wife," at the Macdonough Theater. It is not alone the excellent quality of Mr. Jose's voice that is attracting large audiences to the Macdonough, but he has a good company possessed of no mean measure of histrionic power.

Excellent Play.

The show is unusually attractive and well balanced and there is a laugh in almost every line of the lively farce. Mr. Jose, of course, is best known as the greatest ballad singer before the American public today and he sings some of the old time favorites with a sweetness and melody that is unequalled by any other ballad singer on the stage today.

Jose at His Best.

Lovers of sweet singing and comedy should not miss the chance to see him. Jose is at his best now, and the quality of his voice seems to be improving, which is saying a great deal.

There will be the usual Saturday and Sunday matinees.

Men Accused by Burns in Court

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—On motion of Attorney Peary, representing Frank Shaw, Harry Smith, J. B. Johnson, and Cliff Middlemas, who were yesterday held to answer on a charge of conspiracy for following Detective William J. Burns, the first order in the case was put over until Tuesday next. There seems to be some difficulty about arranging the bail for the four defendants and it was for this reason that the continuance was asked.

ORDER OF EAGLES WILL HOLD DOUBLE FUNERAL

The local Aerle of Eagles is preparing funeral arrangements in the cases of W. R. Miller of 1387 Franklin street and A. B. Rice of 52 Tenth street, both of whom died yesterday. It is the intention of the order to hold a double funeral tomorrow, both men having been members of the Aerle and of the Knights' Union. Miller was also an ex-fireman and belonged to the Firemen's Fund Association. He leaves a widow.

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Troubles May Be Sapping Your Life Away.—Oakland People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well.

Mrs. J. E. Wilson, 2032 Cedar street, Berkeley, Calif., says: "I do not know what I would have done had it not been for the relief which I received from Doan's Kidney Pills. I had been suffering from backache and lumbago for months and no matter what I did, I could not get relief. I would get up in the morning feeling so weak and tired that it was an effort to do my housework. I felt miserable all the time; would have headaches and dizzy spells until I was almost distracted. My kidneys were also disordered and caused me much annoyance. At times I would have sharp twinges of rheumatism in my back and limbs. I was finally advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and as they were highly recommended by people whom I knew, I decided to try them. The result was marvelous. In less than two weeks I was feeling like a new woman. The pains in my back and hips have nearly disappeared and my kidneys now act in their normal manner. It is a pleasure to recommend a remedy of such sterling worth as Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. J. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name — Doan's — and take no other.

BIG CHANGE IN S. P. HOSPITAL

Dr. Williamson to Resign From Los Angeles Institution—Indefinite Charges Made of Large Expenditures of Money; Recalls Other Scandal.

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—It has been announced that Dr. A. P. Williamson, superintendent of the Southern California hospital for the insane at Patton, will resign on September 1, next when his term expires. According to a statement made by Francis M. Parker of this city, a member of the board of managers of the institution, the board has decided that Dr. Williamson will not be a candidate for reelection and that its action was based upon several reasons including large expenditures incurred while an epidemic of diphtheria raged in the asylum last winter, the publication of sensational articles by a newspaper reporter who obtained a position in the institution several months ago and the resignation of a matron. Dr. Williamson came to this State from Middletown, N. Y.

Dr. Campbell, his predecessor, resigned when Secretary A. C. Clark, secretary of the asylum, committed suicide after learning that his accounts, which were short, were to be investigated.

LOCAL BREVITIES

EVIDENCE IS LACKING, HE SAYS

Attorney Enters Into Vigorous Defense of Frederick B. English Whose Case Goes to Jury Today.

(Special to The Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—The fate of Frederick B. English of Oakland, who is accused of embezzling $15,000 from the government during his employment as a clerk in the United States land office, will be in the hands of the jury before tonight.

No Money Taken, He Says.

He presented a complete and forceful argument to substantiate his assertion that there had been no money taken by the defendant during his term of office. He pointed out the unimpeachable character of English and averred that the shortage, if there was a shortage, was the fault of the system employed in the office.

Army Nurse Gives Up Place to Marry Son of Minister

SACRAMENTO, June 11.—Cupid has won out in a little tilt with the United States war department, according to the news of the marriage of Charles R. Miel, a well known young man, formerly of this city, and Frances Dodd, a nurse stationed at the Presidio. Miss Dodd received an order from Washington recently to proceed at once to Fort Blair, New Mexico, and to report there for duty. This interfered with her matrimonial desires, as she and Miel had become engaged last winter while she was nursing him at the hospital at the Presidio. The couple did not intend to get married until next winter, but when her report of duty was changed Miss Dodd sent her resignation to Uncle Sam and the two secretly went to San Rafael, where the marriage ceremony was performed. The groom is the son of Rev. C. L. Miel and wife, well known residents of this city. Rev. Mr. Miel recently accepted a pastorate at Christ's Church, Alameda, although he still maintains his home here.

MISS MARTHA WILLIAMS of San Jose, only daughter of the Golden West Vassar College graduating class.

Miss Martha Williams is Only Pacific Coast Representative in the Class This Year.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 11.—There were two hundred and sixteen graduates in the class at Vassar College, the latest in the history of the institution. One fourth of the senior class was from the Middle West, but one being from the Pacific Coast Miss Martha Williams, San Jose, Cal.

"COWGIRL QUEEN" IS ACCUSED OF ROBBERY

PORTLAND, Ore., June 11.—Dresses and dainty lingerie were in evidence before the federal grand jury in Portland yesterday in the case of Mrs. Nellie Ragan, former postmistress of Roynton, near Klamath Falls, who is accused of robbing the mails that passed through her hands. Mrs. Ragan is only 25 years of age and has spent her life on the Klamath ranges, where she was known as the "Cowgirl Queen" of Southern Oregon.

HILL OUT OF POLITICS

Leaves for Europe and Will Not Attend Democratic Convention for First Time in Thirty Years.

NEW YORK, June 11.—David B. Hill started for Europe this afternoon on the steamer Baltic of the White Star line. It will be his first trip across the Atlantic and he has been planning it for some time.

The departure at the beginning of a national campaign leaves no doubt in the minds of those who felt that he might go back into political harness that he has finally retired from all political activity. The Denver convention on July 7 will be the first national convention of his party in more than thirty years that he has not attended, either as a delegate or as an apolitical leader.

Poor Clerk Wins Rich Bride from Wealthy Suitors

BUTTE, Mont., June 11.—Montana, large, 19 years old, daughter of the late Patrick Largey, who was one of the millionaire miners of Butte and an old associate of Senator W. A. Clark, at midnight last night married Ray McDonald, a poor clerk in a city office here. She turned down numerous offers of well-to-do sons of rich families of the city. Montana has $1,000,000 cash in her own name, according to the court decree relating to the estate of her father. She shipped her automobile to San Francisco, where she and her husband will start overland on a honeymoon auto trip to New York. Thence they will go to Europe. Her husband was her schoolboy sweetheart. They left this morning for San Francisco.

Chinese Boycott Very Effective

VICTORIA, B. C., June 11.—There was not a Chinese passenger nor any Chinese freight on the steamer Tansu Maru of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, which arrived today with her hold scantily filled owing to the prevailing Chinese boycott against the Japanese steamers and merchandise.

Dance Halls Attached.—Sheriff Dolan served attachments yesterday on eighteen dance halls in the Barbary Coast district. The suits were brought at the request of Tax Collector Bush, who is seeking to collect license fees which he claims are overdue. The owners filed bonds and the attachments were released.

CROPS FLOODED BY MISSOURI

Kaw Begins Falling and Railways Resume Business in Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 11.—The Kaw river began falling before daylight and the water steadily receded from the inundated district. The Missouri river continued to rise slowly, but it can do no particular additional damage at this point.

Railways in Operation.

All railroads were in operation in and out of the Union station this morning, with the exception of the Union Pacific and Missouri Pacific, whose bridges are under water, and the Santa Fe, the last of the three named lines using the tracks of the St. Louis and San Francisco from the Kansas side.

Business is still paralyzed in the stockyards. Despite the fact that hundreds of persons are homeless in Armoreville and Argentine, Kansas, no actual distress is apparent and the citizens of Kansas City, Kas., are taking care of all the needy.

Missouri Rising.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 11.—The Missouri river rose an inch this morning, here last night and is still rising. The damage to crops in the bottom lands is rapidly multiplying.

Car Service Resumed.

TOPEKA, Kas., June 11.—While some of the lower portions of North Topeka are yet submerged with dead water, the major portion of the town is above water and street cars have resumed service.

LITTLE CHILD WINS APPLAUSE

Son of Landers Stevens Plays With Nance O'Neil at Le Liberty.

Baby George Stevens, son of Landers Stevens, has made his professional debut on the stage, and if his future success is equally great, a proud place will be his in the ranks of the immortals.

Baby George was the actual star of the performance of "Agnes" at Le Liberty Theater Tuesday night as "Baby Brent" and Miss O'Neil meritedly admitted that fact. It was at the request of Miss O'Neil herself that Baby George was given a place in the cast.

Miss Estelle Warfield, who takes the part of Florentine in the play, and Miss Blanche Douglas, who has the role of Mrs. Reginald Fanshawe, took the greatest interest in rehearsing Baby George for his part, and he was better perfect. True, all he had to do was to hold out his arms when he got his cue, "My Baby," from Miss O'Neil. And he did hold out his arms just as his charming destructiveness had rehearsed him.

Receives Applause.

The house broke into thunderous applause and there was no more enthusiastic member of the audience than young Jack Stevens, brother of Baby George, who occupied a front seat. Jack, who is ten months older than George, wanted to play the part himself, but when told that it was a baby's part, and that a man could not fit the role, he readily yielded his claim.

And, by the way, Miss Douglas says that she did not drop a spark from her cigarette on her gown on the opening night.

"Oh," she said, "that horrid cigarette made me awful sick, for smoking is an accomplishment I have not acquired. I was so afraid of the thing that I held it as far away as I could and never dropped even a bit of ashes on my gown."

THOUGHT MAN DRUNK WHO REALLY WAS DYING FROM POISON

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—While Policemen Charles Joseph and Alfred Holmes were riding on a Montgomery avenue car at 8:30 this morning they saw what they took to be an intoxicated man lying on the pavement with a crowd gathered around him. On further investigation it developed that the man was in a dying condition and an ambulance was hastily summoned, but he died before he could be taken to the Central Emergency hospital.

A superficial examination revealed the fact that he had committed suicide by taking carbolic acid or some other strong poison, but there was nothing in his pockets to indicate his identity or the reason for his act. Bystanders say that he walked along the street with his hands to his mouth until he pitched forward in front of 225 Montgomery avenue, where he lay until discovered by the officers.

He was apparently a laboring man

The Policy of Our Pre-Vacation Sale

This big sale opened yesterday morning. It is a sale with a policy, the same policy which has guided this store for eighteen years. The policy of the H. C. Capwell store embraces several principles which are exactly followed whether during regular selling or during a special sale. We never permit any misrepresentation, either by heads of departments, clerks or in our advertising, and this is naturally demonstrated more generally during a special sale such as we are now conducting.

This Pre-Vacation Sale consists of special price-saving items in each of our twenty-four departments. The difference between former prices and special prices is the exact amount saved. To demonstrate: Suppose an item is advertised as "regular price $1.00—Pre-Vacation price, 68c." This means that you save exactly 32c, and so you do.

The example quoted might be more sensational and might attract more attention if the same $1.00 item had been marked "regular price $1.25, sale price 85c." It would thus appear that you had saved 40c, while in fact you saved but 15 cents. That is not our way of doing business.

This Pre-Vacation sale offers you among a host of other good things, a good variety of this season's Ladies' Suits at exactly half original price; a splendid lot of embroideries at an average saving of 40 per cent; regular $8 S. H. & M. Guaranteed Silk Petticoats at $5.45. Well known brands of Corsets, Long Silk Gloves, Muslinwear, Dress Goods, Wash Goods, Silks, Waists, Draperies and many other staple articles all at prices that represent generous bona-fide savings.

Extra numbers will be added to this Pre-Vacation Sale daily until its close on June 30.

JOYOUSLY HIDES APRIL NUPTIALS

Jennie Stanford Lathrop for Three Months Has Been Wife of Walter Watson.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—Since April last, the lady known as the most exclusive social sets in this city as Miss Jennie Stanford Lathrop has been joyously masquerading under that name for the reason that, according to the stories of her closest friends, she has since that time been the wife of Walter Watson. The bride is the daughter of Charles G. Lathrop, who was a brother of the late Mrs. J. L. Stanford. She is, therefore, a niece of the widow of the founder of Stanford University.

The groom is a popular clubman in this city, where he has resided for many years. His family has extensive ranch interests in the Napa Valley. The parents of the bride are not as yet aware of the nuptials of their daughter. They are in the East and had left here before the marriage took place. It is understood that they had not been apprised of the prospective nuptials before their departure.

The bride and friends, as well as the groom and his friends, have done all in their power to conceal the fact of the wedding. The bride's home at the residence of Mrs. Watson and her daughter, the mother and sister, respectively, of the groom himself, in the St. Xavier Apartments on Pacific avenue.

Just where the marriage took place or why it has been kept so profound a secret is not known. Inquiry on the former point has resulted in the discovery that there is nothing of record on the subject in this city and, as a consequence, the friends of the bride have come to the conclusion that the ceremony was quietly performed in some adjoining county.

The bride is supposed to be worth a million dollars in her own right. She was also remembered in the will of her aunt, who also bequeathed her her wardrobe.

KELLY DOES NOT WANT TO BE SHERIFF
A group of minor politicians connected with the county government, for reasons of their own, have circulated a rumor that County Treasurer M. J. Kelly has declared war on Sheriff Frank Barnett, and will be a candidate for the sheriff's office at the next election. The alleged move on Kelly's part was said to have grown out of an old quarrel between the men arising at the time of the death of Sheriff Bishop. Kelly denied the rumor today.

William Penn

AMONG all the builders of this Nation none deserve more lasting gratitude than this stout old Quaker Champion.

Irish and English prisons could not conquer his spirit, and from a cell in the tower of London he conceived the idea of founding beyond the seas a state wherein Brotherly Love—Peace On Earth and Personal Liberty might become living facts. Thus Pennsylvania was founded.

When colonial governor he introduced vine-growing and brewing, and at Pennbury Manor he had a brew house.

Above middle height—well built and agile—William Penn in his early days was an expert swordsman, a courageous soldier, and a splendid athlete.

He died at 74, and the results of his life's doings bear eloquent witness that the moderate use of a good malt beer helps to create the noblest qualities of mind and soul.

His statue stands in Philadelphia, 547 feet high—for all the world to see.

PRICE OF ADMISSION TO CONVENTION HALL IS $100

"Ticket, Ticket, Who's Got the Ticket?"

CHICAGO, Ill., June 11.—Just an opportunity to be within the doors of the Coliseum when the Republican National Convention opens next Tuesday is the Chicago Republican's greatest desire.

There is no need to scramble for a ticket, because that would accomplish nothing.

A ticket is worth $100 at the lowest figure. Men who subscribed for the expenses of the National Convention are receiving tickets at a rate of one for each $100 given for the cause. The jump at present is "Ticket, ticket, who's got the ticket?"

Three thousand tickets will be distributed among Chicagoans. The rest of the vast seating capacity of the Coliseum will be taken up by the delegates, press and friends of the great army of Republican politicians who are either in Chicago or on their way.

CIVIL WAR ROMANCE LEADS TO MARRIAGE

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—A forty-five year romance of the Civil War ended in marriage here yesterday, the groom being S. W. Burnett, aged 70, with the bride, Miss Arville Packard, but a few summers younger. In 1862 Burnett, a dashing Lieutenant in the Union Army, was wounded in battle in Northern Virginia, and carried to a near-by home. Miss Packard, an Ohio girl, was visiting there, and for weeks she nursed the soldier, and they became fast friends. When he recovered they had to part, and Burnett came to California.

Lately Burnett learned that Miss Packard was in Saginaw, Mich., wrote to her, proposed and was accepted. A week ago he sent for her and she arrived Tuesday. They are passing their honeymoon in Pasadena, where they will reside.

For a Sprained Ankle.
As usually treated, a sprained ankle will disable the injured person a month or more, but by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and observing the directions with each bottle, satisfactory cure may be effected in many cases in less than one week's time. This liniment is a most remarkable preparation. Try it for a sprain or bruise, or when laid up with chronic or muscular rheumatism, and you are certain to be delighted with the prompt relief which it affords. Go the Prices With a Thundering Crash
THE PUBLIC AMAZED AT BIG FURNITURE AND CARPET BARGAINS—THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE—TREMENDOUS CROWDS—ATTENDING THE E. G. ARPS FURNITURE CO.'S MANUFACTURERS' OUTLET SALE AT OAKLAND, CAL.

Never in Oakland's or California's history of merchandising were such immense crowds seen in one store before. The big crowds that are attending The E. G. Arps Furniture Company's Manufacturers' Outlet Sale since the opening day of the sale have been enormous. This stupendous sale of furniture, carpets, rugs, household goods, etc., has attracted the people of Oakland, Alameda county and vicinity from within a radius of one hundred miles in all directions. The people are snapping up the many grand bargains that are on sale, and The E. G. Arps Furniture Company's many extra salespeople have been worked from morning until night supplying the vast crowd of eager buyers that are purchasing the entire stock rapidly.

The tremendous crowds on opening day of this fifteen-day sale were something enormous. It actually seemed that every man, woman, boy and child in Oakland and surrounding country were there to get their share of this great Manufacturers' Outlet Sale of The E. G. Arps Furniture Co.'s surplus purchase of furniture, carpets, rugs, and household goods. Such a terrific sacrifice sale never was inaugurated before in the city of Oakland; and its like will probably never occur here again. The E. G. Arps Furniture Company say they bought this great surplus stock from the manufacturers at a very low figure on account of recent market conditions, hitherto unknown in the past fifteen years, and that they propose to give the people of Oakland, Alameda county, and vicinity, the benefit of their great purchase from the manufacturers, by giving the public the greatest bargains on furniture, etc., that they have ever had in their entire lifetime. It certainly is a rare opportunity for our people of Oakland and vicinity to buy their furniture, carpets, rugs and household goods at a big saving and replenish their needs for the next ten years at about one-half actual value. Consider—and think what this great Manufacturers' Outlet Sale means to you—as it is right at the time of the year when you are thinking of replenishing your home and household needs. Thousands upon thousands of people are now taking advantage of this stupendous sale at The E. G. Arps Furniture Company's store, and well they may—as the prices are less than actual cost of the lumber and workmanship to produce the goods. It is a time for furniture and carpet buying, when one dollar will go as far as two would ordinarily.

There was a tremendous crowd of buyers all day, today, the opening day of the sale; the jam of people was terrific, but it was a good-natured crowd of people, all eager to get waited upon. Tomorrow, Friday, June 12th, the crowds will be just as great, and on the first big Saturday of this big sale, June 13, you will see the greatest crowds of people trying to get admission to The E. G. Arps Furniture Company's big furniture and carpet sale that were ever seen in any sale in the city of Oakland, California, before. We advise early morning selections as much as possible in order to facilitate handling and serving the great crowds. At the prices quoted on this manufacturers' surplus stock, The E. G. Arps Furniture Company will positively not sell to any dealers or merchants, as their great purchase will only be sold out at retail direct to the people, and the sale will continue and last only fourteen days more. Prices on every piece of furniture, every rug, and every yard of carpet in The E. G. Arps Furniture Co.'s big store at 512-514 Seventh street have been cut down to the very lowest limit in order to make quick sale of the entire stocks. Those who need furniture, carpets, rugs, etc., will benefit greatly by this, the most stupendous sale of house furnishings that was ever given on any stock of furniture in any part of the United States. At the way the stock was disposed of today, the first day of the sale, this entire $85,000 manufacturers' purchase of furniture, carpets, etc., will easily be sold in fourteen more days of the sale. From remarks heard upon all sides this great Manufacturers' Outlet Sale of surplus stocks now going on at The E. G. Arps Furniture Company's store, 512-514 Seventh street, Oakland, California, is certainly proving a bargain feast to the public, who are never slow to appreciate and take advantage of a sale of big values at little prices, such as The E. G. Arps Furniture Co.'s big sale is proving to be. You cannot afford to miss it. Don't delay—hurry in—and secure your share of the many grand furniture and carpet values being offered at The E. G. Arps Furniture Company's big Manufacturers' Outlet Sale now going on at Oakland, California. The entire stock now being sold rapidly, at a fraction of its real value. Be careful and be sure you find the right store; look for the big green sign at 512-514 Seventh street, between Washington and Clay streets, Oakland, Cal.

FAKER JACK O'BRIEN NOT WANTED BY FIGHT FANS

Has Proven Too Often That He Can Not Be Trusted and a Match Between Him and Ketchel Would Not Pay.

By EDDIE SMITH.

Persistent rumors to the effect that Philadelphia Jack O'Brien and Stanley Ketchel will be matched to appear here on either Labor Day or September 9 has led some to believe that Jimmy Coffroth is really trying to make the match. When Coffroth left San Francisco some few weeks ago, he announced that he might bring back the signature of the Philadelphia confessor to a set of articles calling for a contest with Ketchel. Those on whose opinion Coffroth should place some value, stated the idea from the very jump, however, and it was hardly expected that the astute promoter would take the chance.

The continued rumors being followed by a dispatch this morning to the effect that Coffroth and O'Brien would have a meeting in a few days regarding a match will have the effect of again setting the fans who love the boxing game for the sport of the game and whose interest in the welfare is only to see clean, pure sport to taking a nap at the promoter and the match.

We have had enough of this man O'Brien. He has had the chance to make money in the game and has done so. He is well cared for in this respect and any sympathy that might be handed out to him were he in need of help is wasted and is unappreciated by this double crosser of friends.

Never in the history of boxing has there been such a brazen faced faker connected with the game as there has been a man whose greed for the dollar would lead so far astray of the right path as this hawk, Jack O'Brien.

In the case of some men who have faked, there has been some excuse, perhaps it was that he was broke and in need of a few dollars that he could get in no other way and perhaps he was led into the faking business by some cheating manager. To those the sympathy of the public has been proven by their forgetfulness of the past and had O'Brien taken his faking career into the fight with Peter Jackson, in which he lost and made a clean up and after which contest he was never broke, then the public would have been charitable to him, but the fact that he has shown that he is a faker and thief so often and without the need of so being, either through lack of ability or need for money, that when people are talked of his name, they never say that this or that one may have been fixed for the confessor; they say "this is one that I know was on the square."

Has Made Fortune.

His fake fights have been so numerous

PRELIMINARY FIGHT IS BEST BOUT OF EVENING

Jimmy Reagan and Kid Burns Put Up a Slashing Go at the Reliance's Monthly Show.

By T. P. MAGILLIGAN.

The boxing show of the Reliance Athletic Club last night furnished entertainment in diversified form, but for real fighting, that essential to a boxing show was largely noticeable by its absence.

During the night of gloves six bouts were pulled off. Three of these were programmed as main events. Probably in the Gilbert and Sullivan sense they were rather good. As it is known that Gilbert and Sullivan were the originators of much of our comic opera.

The real light of the night turned up in one of the four round bouts. This was between Kid Burns and Johnny Reagan and was full of dash, vim and vigor from the opening bell until the final round, when Reagan was awarded a well-earned decision.

What was curious as the big and unqualified main smoke before the fight was the Sullivan-Cooly battle.

Goliaths in Ring.

These Goliaths were to oppose each other in mortal glove-bat for six rounds. Four rounds proved quite sufficient for Sullivan, at the end of which time his bellows were in such poor working order that he could not go on longer until his breathing apparatus was repaired, and as the Marquis of Queensberry carefully overlooked any provision looking to the aid and comfort of short-winded athletes, Mr. Sullivan lost the fight.

In matter of size there was little difference between Sullivan and Cooley, though it may be said that Sullivan's proportions would not have made Apollo envious.

Sullivan a Bit Fat.

George, in his training stunts, it seems, must have overlooked his obesity pills. He sprawled into the ring and when he unrolled himself he looked as though he had swallowed a bit of plumbago. His stomach muscles protruded several feet forward of a direct line from his nose, and he looked as though he had swallowed an airship for dinner.

Appeared to Have.

Not since the appearance of Mike Schrock has any athlete shown on the coast with as well developed a front as Sullivan. He held up his hand as he seemed to conceal an oil tank directly under his chest.

One wag, whose initials we think is "L. J. Lewis," suggested that he take him out and milk him before the battle. It was a good suggestion, but was overlooked. Shows that the efforts of genius are not always appreciated.

Pair of Big Dubs.

When Cooley and Sullivan began to lambast each other they resembled Kohl and Bill slapping each other on the padded gloves. Sullivan was repaired, and it can be said for Sullivan that he fought a game battle. In the fourth round, Cooley rammed several packages of two-a-penny corned beef into his opponent's gloves, into the mid-ribs of Sullivan and Sally took the Red Sox dive each time. Those must have been wicked blows. Sullivan made a mistake when he did not provide himself with a chest protector, same as catchers use in this round.

After Sullivan was bungled up sufficiently, he took the count. The bout was a laughable affair, not for Sullivan, but for those who saw him get those terrible lumps in the stomach. The little Sullivan was rammed he went down so hard that several of the timid were afraid that he would tear a hole in the United States and slip through to China.

Cornett and George.

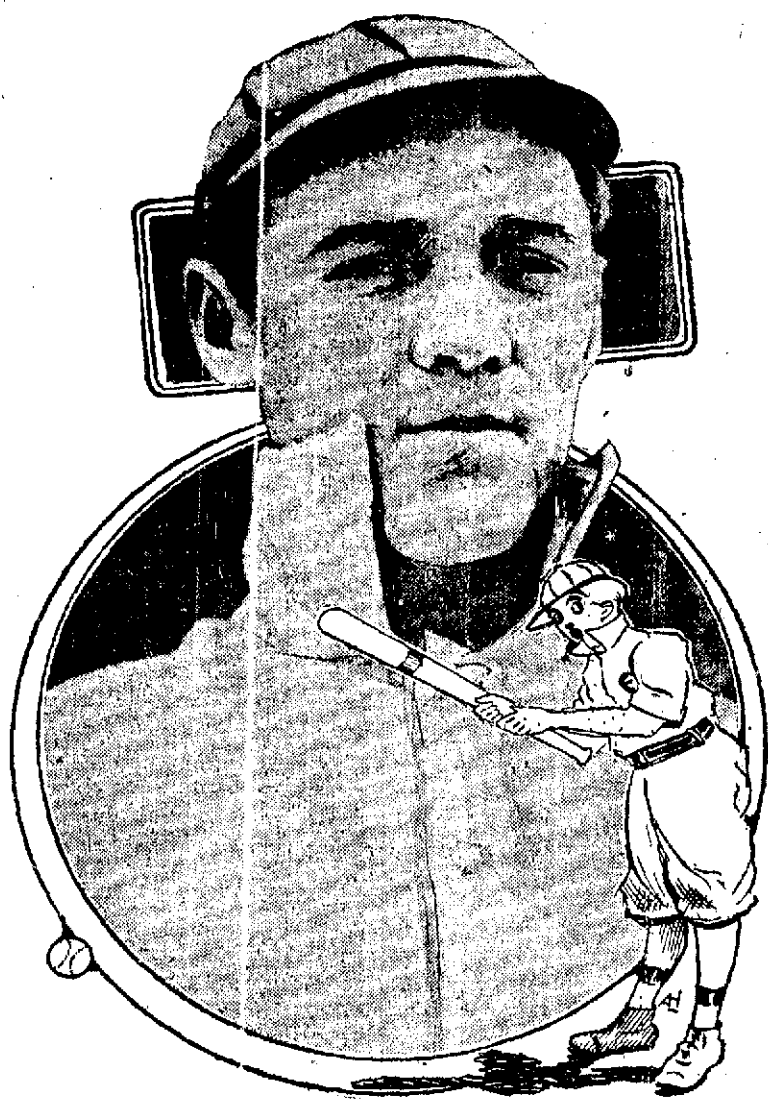

Frank George and Red Cornett furnished the semi-windup. They roamed about the ring for six rounds like a pair of sailors waiting on a glass floor smeared with butter.

Cornett has a wicked face. He looks as though he could take a kick in the mush without its disturbing his presence of mind. Red showed generosity. He held his mush at such an angle that he caught every wallop that George aimed at it. At that "Red" retaliated several times and looked as though he would blow up the glass works in George's jaw, but Frank refused to capitulate, and because he wasn't as rotten as Cornett he gained the decision.

No one can blame George for slugging Cornett in the "mush." That continually put it in Frank George's way and what was he to do? Any one who would resist the temptation of smiting Red in the "mush" would be fit to wear a crown of martyrdom.

George has a varied style of fighting. Something like fifty-seven varieties. He wrestles, holds, runs and tugs, and when the other fellow isn't looking he hits him. There was very little real fighting in the six rounds that this pair wallowed through.

COOKE, THE NIFTY LEFT FIELDER OF THE OAKLAND ATHENIANS, AND ONE OF THE BEST FIELDERS IN THE PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE.

Richmond Nine Defeats Soldiers

The J. M. Perrins of Point Richmond played a swell game of baseball with the soldier boys of the Presidio, Sunday, June 11, at Point Richmond. The boys in blue winning by a score of 10 to 0. It was a pitcher's battle all the way through. Perrins got a man on a hit in the fifth inning. He was pretty much the same with the soldiers. They could not get a man on second without getting him thrown out by Cooley, until the ninth inning, when they scored a run, due to a couple of errors on the part of the Perrins.

O'Brien Draws With Blackburn

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—Philadelphia Jack O'Brien and Joe Blackburn have a draw in their boxing match last night. O'Brien had all the physical advantages, but the negro gave him such a hard fight that the heat the Confessor could do was to get a draw.

O'Brien had the better of the milling in the first round, and held the negro safe in the second and third, but after that Blackburn took a brace and began to fight back, out of his cautiousness, landing many good blows on the white fighter.

Johnson May Meet Big Dub

LONDON, Eng., June 11.—Sam Fitzpatrick, Jack Johnson's manager, declares that his man is ready and willing to meet Marvin Hart if it good offer is made in London, or he says he will have his man return to America if one of the clubs make a suitable offer for a battle between Hart and Johnson.

Tom Longboat is Going to London

MONTREAL, June 11.—Tom Longboat, the great Indian runner, will leave Montreal for England Friday next and hopes to compete in the Olympic games in London.

Emmick Is Clever.

El Emmick proved himself far too clever a boxer for Harry Williams. During the entire six rounds Emmick devoted his time and attention to ducking and sidestepping the thrusts aimed at him by the short-armed kid. Now and then Emmick would vary the monotony by driving his left into Williams' face, and on rare occasions he cut him about the head and ears with his gloved fists. Emmick proved immeasurably cleverer than Williams, but he avoided the issue of fight so openly that the crowd hissed him on several occasions.

SAN FRANCISCO LOSES ITS SIXTH SUCCESSIVE GAME

Los Angeles Proves the Victor Over the Poor Seals After a Hard Eleven-Inning Struggle.

Although they were beaten yesterday, Long's men put up a brilliant battle and it was not until after eleven innings of play that the Angels were finally able to land the game by a score of 4 to 3.

In the sixth inning it looked as though the Seals would win when they slipped on their batting gods and whacked out three runs. After this period, however, Willis let down in his control and this had much to do with the settling of the game to the credit of the Southerners. Jones is credited with the defeat of the Seals as he went into the game with the score a tie.

Both teams showed up with new line ups. Curly Bernard was on second for the Angels. He recently graduated from a Los Angeles medical school and is now an M. D. Elmer was replaced in center field by Curtis, and he showed him overment over the little acrobat.

Both Randolph and Willis pitched ruthless ball until the fifth when the Angels took the lead.

With one out, Ellis walked and stole second, going to third on a hit by Delmas. Happy Hogan worked the squeeze play to send Ellis home and a two-base hit by Randolph scored Delmas.

The one flash of speed the Seals have been capable of for a week past came in the sixth inning. After Willis had retired, Hildebrand shot the ball over short. Mahier hit to right for two bases and Nick Williams scored both runners with a triple that was misjudged by Oakes in center field. Melchior's out scored Williams, and that was an end to the scoring, although Zeiler made a two-base hit before the inning closed.

The run that tied up the game came in the eighth inning, when Bernard was allowed the fateful base on balls and was sacrificed along by Oakes. A wild pitch took him to third, and Dillon worked the squeeze play, this time sending Bernard across the plate.

Three double plays during the balance of the game kept up the excitement, but the Angels put an end to the affair in the eleventh inning, when Brashear doubled to right, was sacrificed third by Smith and scored by Ellis' single to left field.

The score:

NEWS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FASHION, SPORT AND BUSINESS

POLITICAL GOSSIP

Candidates as running mate for Taft are bobbing up briskly just at present. Secretary Cortelyou seems to have the best hold on the position at present, having the backing of the Roosevelt machine.

SPORTING EVENTS

A probable match in the roped arena very shortly will be one between Ketchel and Hugo Kelly. It will most likely be pulled off in Milwaukee.

FASHIONS

Frank pockets and frank arrangement of buttons, etc., on the latest garments (especially coats and vests) for men are not readily adopted by those who dress correctly. They are more in vogue among the high school and college boys.

FINANCIAL NEWS, ETC.

Wall street, New York, has a sluggish period at present. What bidding that has been done the past twenty-four hours is unimportant, the list remaining practically at a standstill.

MISS GOODRICH SAYS SHE WILL MARRY NEXT WINTER

CHICAGO, June 11. — Miss Edna Goodrich, the actress, is here with her mother. She said that she would be married to J. H. MacMillan of Berkeley, Cal., some time next winter, and would give up the stage and live in California. "Yes, I am going to be married in Mr. MacMillan some time this winter," said Miss Goodrich, as she filed a wire to the bridegroom-elect announcing her safe arrival in Chicago. "I have been out there with him and my mother for several weeks, and we are now on our way to Europe, where I have business matters to straighten up. We stopped off here to get some little things we need, and will continue our journey Thursday."

Brings Aid To Eyes

The Kryptok guides to a focus within the eye all the light-rays that proceed from distant objects. Faraway hills, the other side of the room and similarly placed surroundings are distinctly visible to the Kryptok wearer.

At the same time, the Kryptok guides to a focus within the eye all the light-rays that proceed from things near at hand. Small print, fine stitches and similar objects are clearly visible to the Kryptok wearer.

He who wears two pairs of glasses can discard them for one pair of Kryptoks. He who wears the old style seam-crossed bifocal can now get a sightlier glass, for the Kryptok, double lens though it be, shows no conspicuous lines.

WILL TEST TOWING POWER OF BIG NAVY CRUISERS

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., June 11.—Captain Charles E. Fox of the cruiser South Dakota, who was chairman of the board of inquiry which investigated the explosion on board the Tennessee last week, has returned from San Pedro with the announcement that the practice cruise of the second division, Pacific squadron to Magdalena Bay has been abandoned.

As a substitute, the warships will leave San Francisco on June 24, with the torpedo boats in tow, proceed as far south as San Diego and return in ten days. The cruise will be a test for the towing powers of the cruisers, eight of which will start for San Diego on August 24, with torpedo boats in tow. The vessels here will sail for San Francisco Saturday.

spoke of the alarming increase of insanity, the cause being wrong habits of living, improper diet, particularly intemperance; also of the great increase of cancer, the latest report being that of 50 per cent. One cause of cancer is debilitated condition of the system, brought to light by a local irritant; another is the development of tumors. He then spoke of tuberculosis, pneumonia—both germ diseases. These diseases attack those whose systems become depleted in strength, or lose vitality by continuous colds. Preventive measures were rated immensely more valuable than cures.

At the second session of the California conference, the committee of fifteen appointed at the first session returned the following resolution:

First.—That the conference continue to furnish a collegiate education for its youth.

Second.—That the conference put forth every effort to locate the college in a more rural location.

These were both unanimously adopted. The conference voted to appoint a

TEAMSTER SHOT FROM AMBUSH

Suspicion Falls on Man With Whom He Had Previously Quarreled.

SACRAMENTO, June 11.—At an early hour yesterday William G. Finley, a teamster, was shot from ambush twelve miles north of Marysville. The shooting is thought to have been done by Jeff Perry, a miner, who has cherished a grudge against Finley for a long time. During a drunken row last night Finley is said to have taunted Perry and dared him to fight, but the latter paid no attention to the taunts. They separated, and several hours later, while on his way home, Finley was shot from ambush. The bullet entered the left cheek and emerged below the right ear. The fact that Perry and Finley had a violent quarrel and that the former cannot be found leads to the belief that Perry did the shooting. Finley will recover.
